

The Butterfly's Lesson

A caterpillar spent its days crawling on the ground, envious of the colorful butterflies that flew freely in the sky.

One day, it entered a cocoon and emerged as a beautiful butterfly.

It learned that everyone has their own journey and timing in life.

The moral is to embrace your own transformation and not compare yourself to others.

via www.devisephotos.com