

The Tortoise and the Hare

In a forest, a speedy hare continuously boasted about his speed.

Tired of hearing the hare's arrogance, a humble tortoise challenged him to a race.

Confident of victory, the hare decided to take a nap midway.

Meanwhile, the slow and steady tortoise plodded on, eventually crossing the finish line.

The moral of the story: Consistency and determination often yield better results than natural talent alone.
